GMCF named one of ‘Atlanta’s Best Places to Work for 2010’ by Atlanta Business Chronicle

(ATLANTA, Ga.) – The Atlanta Business Chronicle has named Georgia Medical Care Foundation one of “Atlanta’s Best Places to Work for 2010.” The honor resulted from a survey of employees at more than 400 Atlanta-area companies.

GMCF, a subsidiary of Alliant Health Solutions, was 4th among the Top 20 companies listed in the “medium-sized” category. The winners appear in a special section of the Atlanta Business Chronicle’s September 24 issue.

“GMCF would not have received this honor were it not for caring, hardworking and dedicated employees who give an extra effort each day to make it a great place to work,” said Dennis White, GMCF Chief Executive Officer. Winners were announced at a breakfast awards ceremony on September 24.

“GMCF values individuals with a diversity of talents and skills,” wrote one employee.

The Atlanta Business Chronicle, a leading Atlanta business publication, surveyed businesses and organizations to select those that are the area’s best places to work. Employees of nominated companies filled out an online form, from early July through mid-August. Quantum Workplace tabulated the results.

GMCF is a not-for-profit, physician-sponsored organization dedicated to continuously improving health care. For more than 20 years GMCF has served as the Medicare Quality Improvement Organization (QIO) for Georgia through a contract with the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services.
